

How do we use and store your data?

We are required by law to keep booking information for 7 years, after which time our paperwork will be destroyed.

Your contact details (address, email, telephone) may have been passed to us from the agent with which you booked, or you may have given them to us when you completed our own booking forms.

All information is stored in paper form and not accessible by other parties

We do not hold any additional information such as card or bank details

We do not share your information with any other companies.

To continue to receive information from us – please sign up to our mailing list – you can ask to be removed at any time.
